

5.4 Import Block from Dynamic Form

If the necessary blocks and fields already exist within another dynamic form, using the “Import from dynamic form...” button it will be possible to insert a copy of the block of a dynamic form present within the process into the dynamic form (including the fields present within it, Figure 1).

NOTE: All fields will be created with the following properties:

- Default Permissions → Read Only

- Default Value → variable that points to the content of the dynamic form field from which the copy was made
